

Nov. 5, 2019- Debris Management

- Government mandated debris separation categories are now available and are as follows:
 1. White waste: Freezers, refrigerators, stoves, microwaves, washing machines, air conditioning units
 2. Electronic waste (E-Waste): Televisions (TVs), Computers, printers
 3. Household Furniture: Mattresses, couches, bedsprings, dressers
 4. Construction Waste: Concrete, plumbing fixtures, lighting fixtures, wiring, PVC piping, air condition ducting (fiberglass and metal
 5. Wood: organic waste, lumber

- Concerns were raised about these categories, specifically that organic waste and lumber (pressure treated wood) are considered in the same category
- An infographic detailing these categories is in the process of being created

- The first barge load of debris was loaded and removed from elbow cay on Nov. 5th, funded by Samaritan's Purse.
 - This included ten, thirty yard waste bins, which were loaded by machinery at the Elbow Cay Club debris staging area and transported to the disposal sight in Marsh Harbour.
 - The expectation is for one barge load daily as of now, with plans to scale this operation up in the near future as resources and funding are secured

- Kemp road in town is still not cleared of debris. Plans are in place to have a track loader with a grapple attachment begin moving this debris into a staging area for removal. Possible small scale staging areas include:
 1. The ballfield, in which the debris would later be loaded into small trucks and transported through town to the Elbow Cay Club
 2. Empty lot near Lavender Cottage, where a barge could possibly land and remove the debris directly rather than transport through town

- North End debris staging area has not yet been established and the debris that is currently being removed from this area are being taken through town to the Elbow Cay Club Location
- White Sound (South End) staging area has been established and debris is currently being staged at this sight for future removal by barge
